

> DEFORM GROWING IN THE MIDDLE EAST

With further new customers, Deform's Middle East market is expanding..

Several contracts with customers in various countries in the Middle East mean that Deform's presence in this part of the world has gone from strength to strength this year. New investment continues in the petrochemical industry. Thus, Deform sees ever greater opportunities in the region. Pressure vessels are becoming larger and the materials thicker. Consequently, requirements in respect of fit and tolerances are severe. These developments perfectly match our strategy of offering advanced forming in demanding materials – we like undertaking anything that is large, thick and difficult! We are a growing, ambitious subcontractor and we are in the Middle East to stay!

▲ Middle East is a region with great potential!

In October 2009, Deform made several rewarding customer visits to Saudi Arabia – here at Zamil Steel.

▲ Deform's Arash Khishkar on one of many interesting visits to customers in the United Arab Emirates – pictured here at NPCC.

▲ Joint cutting a formed segment.

▲ Test assembly of a hemisphere.

DTE-001